Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

IN ITS report on "The Trend of Population in Arkansas," published recently by The Star, the State Planning Board pointed out two facts: First, that the growth of the entire state slowed up with the exhaustion of free land and the stoppage of immigration; and, second, that the population within the state was continuing to drift away from the country, into town.

JOHNSON VS. WHITE

Third and Fourth Men,
Supporting White

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Huey Long announced Tuesday night that he would abandon his effort to aid Paul B. Johnson, Hattiesburg lawyer, to win the Democratic nomination for governor from Hugh White, wealthy lumberman of Columbia in the Mississippi run-off primary.

Long said that his reason was that he had been unable to make the race a "Huey Long and share-our-wealth issue."

The announcement was made in a letter Long mailed to the presidents and secretaries of 602 Share-Our-Wealth Societies in Mississippi in which he ordered them to "take no hand in the Mississippi governor's race no matter what is said for or against us by either of the candidates."

Long said he was sure to be repudiated no matter who wins.

Long had planned to throw the strength of his Mississippi societies behind Johnson but Johnson refused the support.

The second primary, which is a runoff election between Johnson, former congressman, and White, will be held August 27. White has the support of Bilbo while Long has denounced White as an opponent of the share-our-wealth program.

Dennis Murphree, lieutenant governor, and Lester Franklin, who lost out in the first primary, have announced their support for White.

Long indicated he would attempt to bring the share-our-wealth issue to a head in Mississippi next year when Senator Harrison comes up for reelection.

Denies Endorsement.

WINONA, Miss.—(AP)—Paul B. Johnson, gubernatorial candidate in Mississippi's runoff primary August 27, said at an American Legion picnic here Tuesday that Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana has never "endorsed" his candidacy.

"Senator Long just said that he was against a man like Hugh White, a millionaire who oppressed the people, as he is against such people everywhere," Johnson said.

White is Johnson's opponent in the second primary.

"Senator Long said he had never seen me. I had never spoken to him, and would not know me if he were to pass me on the street," Johnson declared.

He also charged that he was fighting "all the federal money that comes into Mississippi."

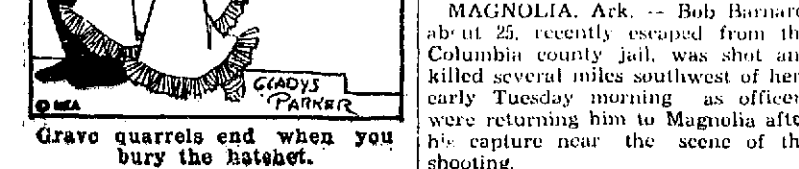

White will open his second primary campaign here Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Four new soil erosion projects and continuation of two existing projects in Arkansas were announced Wednesday by W. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service.

The new program calls for demonstration projects in parts of Boone, Drew, Scott counties, and in parts of Hempstead and Nevada counties.

43 New Projects

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The division of applications and information made public Wednesday a list of 43 Arkansas work projects for which the president has approved an allotment of federal funds totaling $475,675 to be used by the Works Progress Administration (WPA) for carrying forward the program in Arkansas.

This sum was recommended by the advisory committee August 5.

Another group of 20 projects, involving $222,000, was handed to President Roosevelt Tuesday for action.

The findings of the State Planning Board may appear a bit obvious to the casual reader.

But we need to study obvious things—especially these days, when many folks are hard at work trying to make things appear complex.

Almost everything of importance to humanity has proceeded out of a perfectly obvious situation. Most of the truly great inventions started from a discovery so simple as to astonish us later.

What makes civilization isn't ideas alone, but ideas backed by a lot of tedious planning and long-continued work.

And so there is always hope for us if we are willing to grasp an obvious situation and improve our prospects by careful planning and hard work.

The Star has contended for several years that Arkansas has enough highway tax money, if properly administered, to build gravel roads on every school-bus route in the state. But administration by counties won't get the job done. The state should take over the school-bus routes.

X X X

Hope has its own municipal plant—the only important generating system in this section of the state. It is up in Hope, therefore, to realize the dream of rural electrification for Hempstead county.

There is nothing quite so obvious as the goodness of an all-weather highway or an electric light line.

But neither is there anything more difficult to get people together on, sometimes.

The State Planning Board has printed a 2.3 per cent drop in farm population.

They are pointing a finger squarely at Hempstead county. For our county dropped 2 per cent in total population between 1920 and 1930, while the City of Hope gained 25 per cent.

X X X

The per family allowance was obtained by dividing the number of unemployed families in July by the FERA and into the amount available for each county from the state fund of $75,000 on a population basis.

The approximate number of unemployed families in each county, (totaling 8,479 for the state), with the pro rata distribution from the state fund, and the distribution from the state fund, and the distribution under the FERA system are shown in the following table:

County	Unem- ployed	Per family	FERA
Hempstead	58	21.47	8.97
Howard	109	6.51	9.17
Lafayette	131	5.27	9.92
Miller	163	7.59	14.72

CROSSETT, Ark.—(AP)—The Crossett Lumber company plant, one of the largest of its kind in the South, which shut down last Friday as the result of a labor dispute, resumed operations Wednesday morning.

The mill management declined to make any statement as to the basis on which the workers returned to their posts, and General Manager J. L. Arnold refused to comment on a report that it was an "unconditional" basis.

The company restored jobs for all except certain laborers discharged or laid off before the dispute.

The situation remained unchanged at nearby Warren, where the Bradley Lumber company, employing approximately 750 men, shut down last week.

4 Given Life for Dickinson Killing

Conspirator and 3 Ex-Burlesque Dancers Convicted in Michigan

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—William Lee Davis and three former burlesque dancers were convicted Tuesday of the $134 held-up-murder of Howard Carter Dickinson.

Judge John A. Boyne will pass sentence of life imprisonment, mandatory under Michigan law, on the four self-styled "cocktail bar racketeers" Thursday.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated two hours and 41 minutes, returning a separate verdict against each defendant. It added a "recounted" conviction for "mercy" in the cases of the women, but the court has no opinion but a life sentence for first degree murder.

The three women, Florence and Leona Jackson and Jean Miller, who have interrupted the trial frequently with emotional outbursts, were taken screaming from the courtroom.

Ferris showed little emotion.

"This has been a terrible mistake," he said. "We will appeal."

"It will kill my mother," the Miller woman screamed, as she was being taken to jail. All three of the women had to be carried into the lockup.

'Mystery Man' Faces Probers

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt sent the nation into a momentous governmental venture Wednesday by signing the social security bill.

Representative Cox, Georgia Democrat, threatened to "kick" Hopson from the house lobby committee room unless he withdrew a remark to the effect that a question Cox had asked was a lie.

Hopson's Capture

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The long chase after Howard C. Hopson took on certain comic opera trappings Tuesday night toned down by contemplations of a possible senate contempt citation against the utilities magnate.

The stiff-arming of a senate lobby investigator as he sought to serve a subpoena on the rotund chief stockholder of the Associated Gas & Electric System precipitated the trouble.

Accused members of the senate investigating committee quickly gathered testimony that Chairman O'Connor, Democrat, New York, of the house lobby probing committee had arranged for police protection of the will of the wispy utilities man when he finally appeared as a house witness.

Both house and senate investigators had searched for him for weeks, but the latter were unsuccessful.

O'Connor denied that he or any member of the committee had given instructions that a senate subpoena server be kept away from Hopson.

"We found a man they couldn't find," said O'Connor somewhat proudly. "They are welcome to him, but they ought to let him finish a meal before they take him over."

Hopson was served with a house subpoena Saturday near Spring Lake, N. J. A private detective identified only as "Birmingham" reportedly located Hopson, guarded him all Monday night, and accompanied him Tuesday night to an undisclosed stopping place.

Joseph McCarthy, the senate investigator, was blocked when he attempted to serve Hopson as he left the committee room, found an elevator door slammed in his face, and raved two floors to the street only to miss him again.

Cells Witnesses to Clash

Chairman Black, Democrat, Alabama, of the senate committee quickly called policemen, newspapermen and McCarthy to the witness stand to tell about McCarthy's difficulties. Introduced in evidence was an Associated Press photo showing McCarthy just about to reach Hopson before he was taken by light metals.

Wood is rapidly passing as an airplane material and its place is being taken by light metals.

ROGERS, Ark.—(AP)—Two youths, tentatively identified as Leslie Lyons and Frank Ehler, of Oskaloosa, Kan., were found dead on highway No. 71 west of Rogers Wednesday.

They were apparently victims of a hit-and-run driver.

Both bodies were badly mangled, their heads being crushed.

Gunplay on Road

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—Little Rock police carried on a manhunt Wednesday for a berserk gunman who late Tuesday night shot two Pine Bluff youths, seriously injured two women and an infant boy, and left officers baffled as to the motive of his actions.

The man, described as a hitch-hiker from Texas, shot and seriously wounded Harold Davis and David Schlosberg, young Pine Bluff truck-drivers, as they drove him, the women and the baby toward Sheridan.

Commanding the truck, the man drove rapidly toward Little Rock until he lost control of the vehicle near the Shrine Country club, south of here, and wrecked the machine.

Apparently escaping unharmed in the crash that probably fatally injured the child and left the women with severe cuts, the hitch-hiker obtained aid for them before making his getaway.

Given a Lift

LITTLE ROCK.—A hitch-hiker accompanied by two women and a baby Tuesday night shot and seriously wounded two employees of Silbernagel & Co., Pine Bluff wholesale grocers, near Sheridan. The hitch-hiker opened fire when Harold Davis refused to surrender $300 of his company's money. David Schlosberg, Davis' co-worker, was shot four times.

Early Wednesday morning Little Rock police learned that the fleeing truck taken from the man had turned over near the Shrine Country club, injuring the baby seriously. They were treated at a Little Rock hospital while police sought the man, who was said to have left the scene of the wreck.

Schlosberg was taken to Sheridan by a farmer. Sheriff Paul Clark said doctors held little hope for his life. Davis was taken to the home of a doctor at Fayetteville. He had been shot four times in the back.

Schlosberg told Sheriff Clark the hitch-hikers were picked up near Texarkana and allowed to ride in the rear of the truck. About two miles from Sheridan, he said, the man opened fire without warning.

Sheriff Clark said the truck was seen passing through Sheridan heading for Little Rock. He notified Little Rock police and radio patrol cars were stationed on the highway.

Cancer of Lung Takes Increasing Life Toll.

Cancer of the lung is increasing as a cause of death of human beings. This seems to be the general opinion of physicians who see a great deal of cancer.

Dr. James Ewing feels that probably the increase is due to a number of different causes. For example, the amount of respiratory disease is steadily growing, particularly various forms of influenza. Then, too, irritation is known to play a part and tar and its derivatives are known to be irritants.

Gasoline fumes, vaporized oils, tar from roads, and other irritating materials associated with the motor car industry are increasingly coming in contact with the human lung.

An interesting fact brought out in a paper read by Dr. Aaron Arkin before the Pan-American Medical Association was the fact that 125 cases, out of 135 which came to the Cook County Hospital in Chicago between 1931 and 1934 were in men and only 10 cases were in women.

He ventured the opinion that smoking by men was primarily responsible for this high incidence and suggested that as women continue to smoke in increasing numbers and as intensively as they do, cancer of the lung would tend to increase in women.

It is known, of course, that cancer of the tongue used to be almost exclusively a masculine disease and that the increased amount of smoking by women has resulted in the appearance of some cases of cancer of the tongue among them.

In the beginning, cancer of the lung is like a great many other conditions which affect that organ. There may be fever, pain, cough, expulsion of pus in the sputum and with the cough, and a gradual wasting of the body, due to poisoning associated with the cancerous condition.

X-ray pictures show a definite shadow which is the mark of the presence of the cancer. However, certain other conditions affecting the lungs, for example, invasion of certain fungus growths like actinomycosis, blastomycosis, coccidioidomycosis, and which is seen particularly in California, and sporotrichosis may simulate the cancer.

Unfortunately there is not a great deal of help for the person with cancer of the lung.

During the last few years, surgeons have on several occasions removed whole sections of lung and even one entire lung successfully. This is, however, a most difficult and dangerous operation and not likely to be done frequently, even by the greatest of experts.

Moreover, the cancer of the lung tends to spread to the lymph glands and to the bones and to the brain and this secondary form of cancer may kill quickly.

If, however, the condition is determined to be tuberculosis or some other form of infection of the lung, various forms of treatment bring good results and it is important to know as soon as possible what is wrong with the lung tissue.

Memoirs of Editor Breezy—and Dull.

It seems to be an iron law of the profession that when a newspaper editor grows old he must write his memoirs. This leads to the production of a great many chatty and informal books, and it has resulted currently in the publication of "B. D. B.'s Procession," by Ralph D. Blumenthal.

Mr. Blumenthal put in some 30 years as editor of the London Daily Express, and in this book he gives brief pictures of some of the famous people with whom his job put him in contact.

Some of the sketches are somewhat superficial and pointless, but in the main the collection is interesting enough to fill in a couple of spare hours for you.

You might, for instance, like his account of a meeting with the Artists' Sargent and Whistler, with Whistler telling Sargent bluntly that he (Sargent) was a great man, but not a great painter, and with Sargent carelessly agreeing and going off to eat a lunch of ale and beefsteak.

He shows you, too, Tennyson, grown old and doting, inviting him to lunch and then forgetting about it and chasing him away with uplifted stick; Conan Doyle of the pre-Sherlock Holmes days, reading a short story before an authors' club and making a miserable flop of it; Lloyd George cheery and determined at the news of the German break-through in March of 1918; Ellen Terry holding a group of children spellbound with a recital of fairy tales; Edison confessing that he would be a newspaper reporter if he had his life to live over again—and so on.

It makes a light but not uninteresting collection of anecdotes. Published by Macmillan, it sells for $2.50.

Why was Jim acting so strange to-day? Peter tonight? Jane wondered. Ever since he'd come home at five he had been nagging at the boy. Not nagging, perhaps, but giving him one thing after another to do, then finding fault if it wasn't exactly right.

Now Peter was out in the garage searching the tool chest for a special wrench. The child didn't know one increasing numbers and as intensively as they do, cancer of the lung would tend to increase in women.

Makeup That Will Remain Fresh Looking For Hours Is Busy Girl's Big Beauty Need.

The business girl who wants to look neat and attractive every day of the week simply has to pick clothes that keep fresh for seven or eight hours and use makeup that will stay on at least three. Linens which crush are all right for the person who wears them on a short shopping tour or to lunch, but not for one who sits at a desk all day. Any lipstick will do if you can apply a fresh coat every hour, but if you have to wait until lunch to freshen up your face, an indelible one that actually does stay on is decidedly better.

By shopping carefully, any business girl can find practical cosmetics to suit her pocketbook and her individual needs. There are, for instance, foundation creams that hold powder on the face and throat for half a day, powders themselves with extraordinary adherent tendencies, mascara that won't rub off or smear in case you decide to shed a tear and, of course, lipstick that stains rather than coats the lips.

If you are especially anxious to stay perfectly powdered for half a day at a time, better look at some of the new liquid powders. One good brand, new on the market this year, comes in shades to match any and all types of skin and, in addition, is put up in the special orchid tone for evening. You can get it dark or light according to the amount of suntan you've acquired on the beaches.

When you have cleaned your face and patted with skin tone, pour a very small amount of the liquid powder in one hand and smooth it on face and throat. Use fingertips, rub lightly and see that one spot is dry before you go on to the next. When the entire surface has been powdered and is quite dry, dust off the excess with clean cotton. Just in case a bit of it comes off your nose, carry a piece of cotton in your bag. Applied correctly, this liquid powder really will stay on for four hours. It gives the skin a healthy, rather subtle luminous glow and is excellent for beach and evening as well as daytime wear.

JO DARREN breaks her engagement to GRET PAUL, college athlete star, because Bret objects to her taking a job as hostess at Crest Lake Inn, fashionable summer resort owned by wealthy DOUGLAS MARSH.

Jo goes to Crest Lake, Marsh's eccentric mother dislikes her and causes difficulties. These are increased when BETTE CRAIG, NET film actor, arrives. Fragonet pays Jo marked attention, asks her to marry him as soon as he can secure a divorce.

Bret Paul comes to Crest Lake on life guard duty. MARSH MONTGOMERY, school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo, is also there.

Fragonet leaves and returns when his film company undertakes to make part of a motion picture at the resort. Jo becomes friendly with LOLA MONTGOMERY.

There is a party for the film company. Next morning, Babs tells Jo that she (Babs) is going to marry Douglas Marsh.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII

JO said, hiding as best she could her surprise at Babs' sudden announcement, "I'm awfully glad, Babs."

Babs gave her a queer smile. "Oh, I knew you would be, Jo. . . I really did."

"When does the big event take place?" asked Tubby.

"Doug wants it to be right away," Babs told them. "In fact, he was all for eloping. But of course I couldn't have that."

Tubby shook her head. "Of course not. Think of the parties you'd miss."

Babs' eyes grew sharp, and Jo was relieved to see Lolita Montez heading for their table. At sight of the actress Babs stiffened. Plainly she did not feel that Lolita Montez should be recognized; and after acknowledging Lolita's greeting she crossed herself.

"Won't you sit down?" Jo invited the little actress.

Montez shook her head. "I'd like to—but Drana is herding us all to the station in half an hour. I just wanted to stop a moment and tell you how much I've enjoyed being here and knowing you and Miss Davis."

They assured her that the enjoyment had been mutual, and Tubby asked, "Do you really leave so soon?"

"Yes. . . except for Fragonet." Jo started. "Isn't—Mr. Fragonet returning, too?"

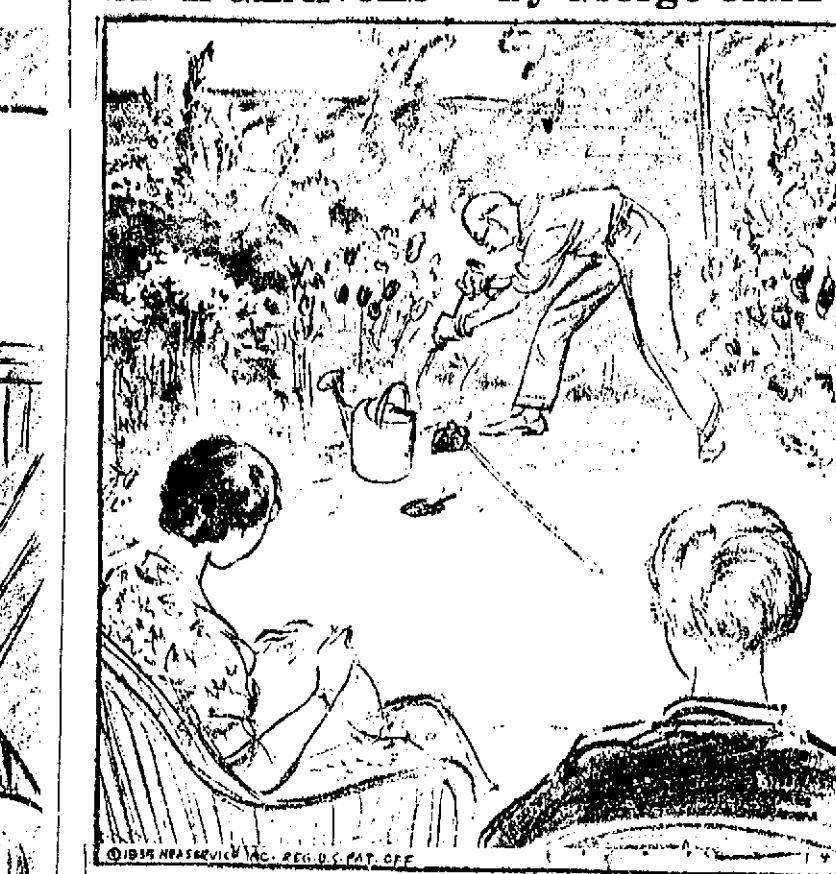

"Oh, not with us," Montez smiled, her tone gently malicious. "We might distract him, I suppose. I believe he's taking the night plane out."

Tubby glanced significantly at Jo, and when Montez had departed she put into words what had been in her eyes. "I'll bet I know why Fragonet is hanging back. He plans to shanghai you on that plane."

Jo laughed. "Don't be silly, Tubby."

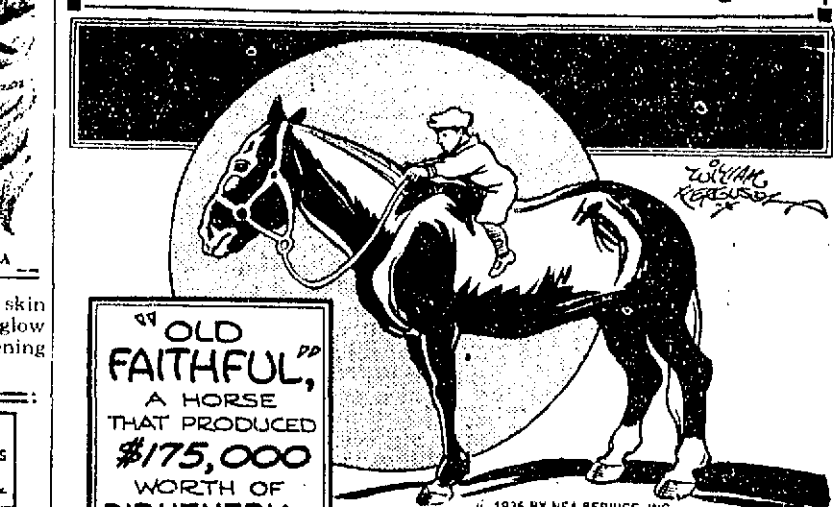

"You wait. The minute Drana and his gang get away, you'll be hearing from Fragonet."

Day's End

It does not matter much that we have failed to gain renown. This, to our credit, we reply. We have not craved notoriety. We have not prospered by a lie. Nor over trifles worn a frown. It does not matter much tonight that we have little gold to spend. What if we lost by doing right? Poor gains are those regrets attend. So homeward let's whistle now. Glad snatches of a merry song. We have not broken trust or vow. We have not stooped to shame or wrong. No weaker man with battered brow is cursing us for being strong.

'Public Hero No. 1' Saenger Feature

Chester Morris and Jean Arthur on Local Screen Thursday

Reproducing a "face lifting" operation by make-up— Building a state penitentiary— Filming running fights between gangsters and secret service operatives at a speed of seventy miles an hour— Driving an automobile through a flooded river—

These are just a few of the difficult location and technical details that went into the making of "Public Hero Number 1," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of the fight of the secret service against organized crime, which comes Thursday to the Saenger. "Public Hero Number 1" deals with the pursuit of a notorious public enemy by a Government operative, with the weight of the secret service behind him. Much of the action occurs within a state penitentiary and its pulse-stirring episodes, including the sensational jail break, are said to be the most realistic and exciting scenes of prison life to be photographed since the memorable picture, "The Big House," in which Chester Morris scored one of his first big hits. Counterbalancing the more grim aspects of the narrative is a romantic angle in which Morris and Jean Arthur overcome a dramatic obstacle to the fulfillment of their romance.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

BY DAN THOMAS

'Crusades' Is Sure Hit; War Scenes Thrillers

HOLLYWOOD — Cecil B. DeMille, Hollywood's principal apostle of elaborate spectacles, finally came through with another great picture, "The Crusades," compares very favorably with his "King of Kings" and "The Ten Commandments," two of the most successful productions in cinema history.

Containing the religious background which DeMille is so adept at dramatizing, it is the most spectacular fighting film this writer has ever seen. Spurred on by religious fervor—and DeMille's lashing tongue—the Crusaders put on a war that could take place only on the screen. What fighting! Wars that history tells us lasted for years, concentrated into a few thousand feet of film!

And every bit of the fighting done in hand-to-hand combat with only the primitive 12th century weapons—blazing oil, wooden battle towers for scaling walls, broadswords, and bows and arrows.

This picture will please those who like excitement. Thrills and mob activity abound in nearly every scene. Scarcely does it lapse into the sentimentality of love scenes between Loretta Young and Henry Wilcoxon. Their affectionate moments can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Yet after the preview I overheard a woman remark, "DeMille is a menace to all women. His heroes make love so romantically they make us conscious of what we're missing."

Designed as a part of Hollywood's campaign against double features, the picture should have a noticeable effect upon this custom. It's good enough to draw customers alone and its running time of two hours and ten minutes is too long to permit adding a second feature.

Scene Choice Chisling received a letter from a New York man advising him that a friend of the writer was coming to Hollywood and asking permission for him and another couple to visit the studio.

The executive sent back a letter that would admit the man and his party. But the New Yorker's friend turned out to be a chiseler in sheep's clothing. When the party arrived, it consisted of 12 persons, loaded into two buses.

Studio attaches didn't know what to do. No party of that size ever had been admitted. But the man had a letter signed by the executive, who was out of town.

So there was nothing to do but admit the party, show them the sights, and give them lunch. And the bill for the 12 lunches went to the executive.

Big Hearts in Hollywood While the "Peter Ibbetson" troupe was on location in the Bush Gardens at Pasadena the other day, Renee Bartlett, the wardrobe girl, suddenly was stricken with a terrific pain in her right side. Gary Cooper, sitting nearby, noticed her double up.

Without a moment's hesitation, he carried her to his car and rushed her to the Pasadena Emergency hospital. Fifteen minutes later surgeons were operating for appendicitis.

In the meantime Ann Harding wrote out a check for $100 and started a fund to defray the girl's expenses. A total of $750 was collected.

Keeping Up Tradition In comedy parlance, "a hundred and eight" means a backward fall. For comedians could outdo Harold Lloyd in this particular laugh-getter back in the old slapstick days. So when he moved over to the Paramount lot recently to make "The Milky Way," he was assigned to dressing room No. 108.

New Fun for Film Folks Hollywood now has a new pastime—following a Chinese game which is a cross between pinchle and dominoes. The game, played with 84 sticks labeled with Chinese figures, was introduced to the film crowd by two Chinese extras on the "Charlie Chan in Shanghai" set.

actor came to Hollywood and had little trouble grabbing a studio contract. However, he was a difficult person to exploit, as his background was extremely colorful.

So a studio press agent went into a trance and emerged with a swell story of how the youth's father was a torreador in Mexico and the youth himself has trained for this profession by practicing with large dogs ever since his childhood days.

As time passed, the story gathered color. And today the actor, now considerably more prominent, will tell you that every word of the yarn is authentic.

Spanish War Vets Pensions Restored

Roosevelt Signs Bill, Citing Lack of Earlier Care for Soldiers

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Declaring his action established no precedent for World War pensions, President Roosevelt signed the Spanish-American war veterans bill Tuesday, restoring all pensions to dependents and veterans of the Spanish-American war. Boxer rebellion and Philippine insurrection as a cost of $45,581,000 a year. It will return approximately 50,000 persons to the roll. Widows will gain by about $6,000,000. At midnight the bill would automatically have become law without his signature.

Mr. Roosevelt said in a statement: "The congress on many occasions has recognized that because of the complete absence of any system or policy initiated during or immediately following the Civil war, the Indian war, and the Spanish-American war, and because of lack of adequate medical care from the point of view of modern standards, the veterans of these earlier wars could be compensated and taken care of only through some form of pension system."

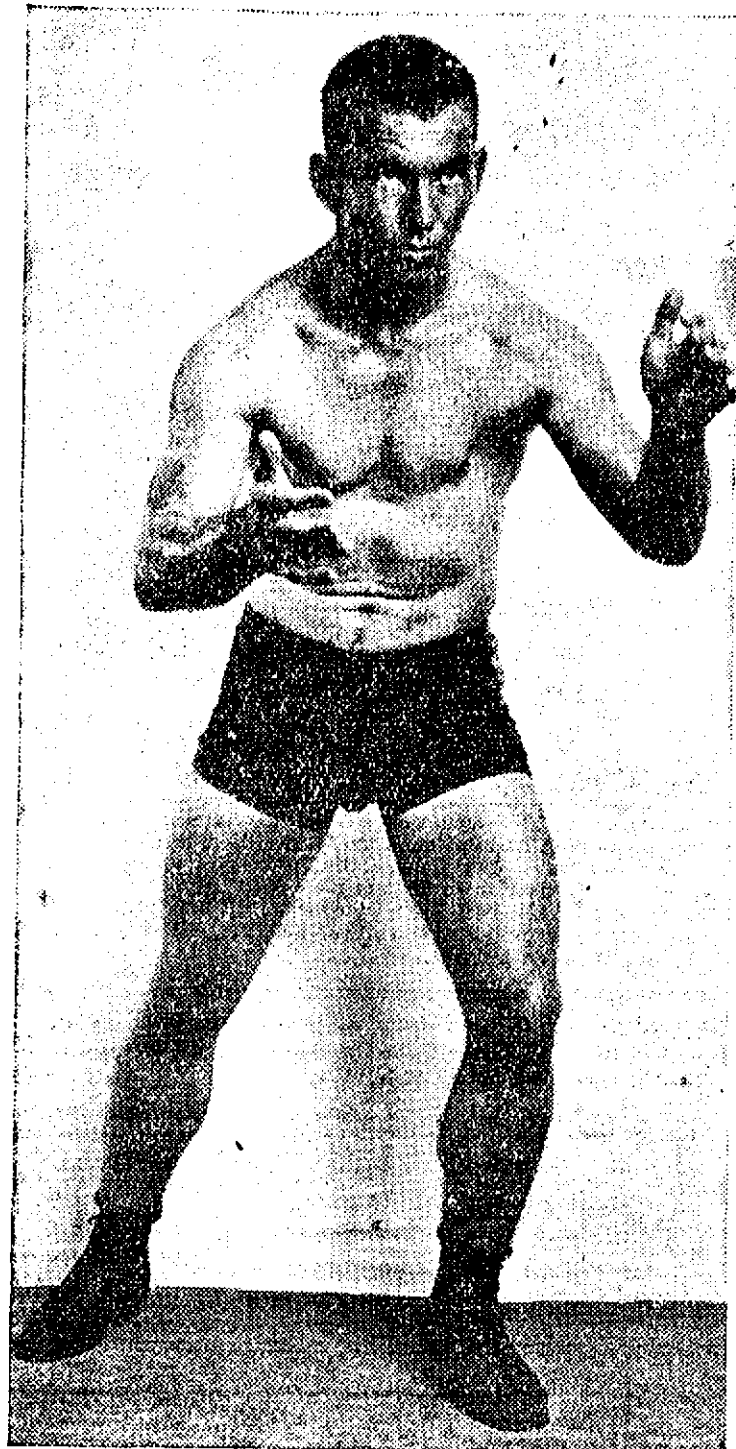

"In the case of the World war, however, the congress at the very beginning of the war adopted an entirely new system of care and benefit. This new system, applied to all who fought in the World war, extended to them additional compensation, vocational rehabilitation and the adjusted service certificate (the bonus)."

"The bill completed restoration of all of the economy cuts in veterans rolls and federal employee pay rolls with the exception of about $100,000,000, mainly represented in the non-service connected World war veteran cases."

Twelve pounds of spaghetti, 3 loaves of bread, 8 pounds of frankfurters, 3 quarts of ice cream, 5 dozen eggs, and 2 gallons of coffee comprise the daily ration of Joseph Ruggia, 600-pound Philadelphia.

It takes eight gallons of special oil to give each of the elephants at the London Zoo its annual "beauty bath."

Power Dam Gives Way; Many Dead

Toll of Italian Dead in Disaster Near Turin May Reach 1,000

TURIN, Italy.—(AP)—Estimates that more than 600 persons—possibly 1,000—may have perished in the bursting of a hydro-electric dam in the vicinity of the Alessandria town of Ovada were made Tuesday night by rescue workers.

The raging flood waters, pouring through the shattered dam on the swollen Orba river, laid waste an area of 41 square miles in the vicinity of Ovada Tuesday.

A vast volume of water, stored up by mountain storms, swept over the countryside, washing away scores of homes, wiping out small factories and crumbling a half dozen railroad and highway bridges.

Scores of injured were given emergency treatment at hospitals and first aid stations and others, made homeless by the sudden flood, spent the night in makeshift shelters.

Destruction of the hydro-electric power station at the dam threw the area into darkness.

The catastrophe descended on the hapless countryside with tragic suddenness. The first warning was a terrific roar like that of thunder rolling in the surrounding mountains, as the dam collapsed.

Then a great wall of water rolled down from the river, engulfing towns and villages. First reports said 100 inhabitants were drowned in Ovada, a town of about 10,000.

'Human Icicle' Prepares for Test

While authorities threatened to ban the bizarre experiment, carefully prescribed diet became part of the regime of Stephen Simkhovitch, right, preparing in Los Angeles to allow Dr. Ralph Willard, left, to freeze him into a "human icicle" as a scientific experiment, and in the expectation that it will be possible to revive him later. Dr. Willard, who hopes it will be possible thus to kill various disease germs without killing permanently the patient, has announced success in a similar test on a small monkey.

Committee Votes

closed off by the later's aides. Late in the day Black signed a subpoena for William A. Hill, Hopson's attorney, who was described in testimony as active in keeping McCarthy from reaching Hopson. Hill was identified before the senate committee as one of these in the Associated Press photo. He will be heard Wednesday. When all the evidence on this phase of the case is in, the senate committee will go into executive session to make a decision on Hopson's case.

A possible contempt citation obviously was in their minds. Their effort was to determine whether the circumstances would justify such action and to determine the legal aspects of summoning a man already under subpoena to another committee.

The appearance of the rotund Hopson on the House committee stand was an anti-climax. He told details of the building up of Associated Gas & Electric into a mammoth holding company. He defended what he termed a "constitutional right of privacy," and discounted reports of million-dollar-a-year profits.

Hopson told an intricate tale of the formation of the Associated Gas & Electric system for some 300 operating companies, slowly acquired, with numerous involved financial transactions. He told of the purchase of the Chicago-based United Gas & Electric Co. by the Associated Gas & Electric system, which he said was a "constitutional right of privacy," and discounted reports of million-dollar-a-year profits.

WPA "Strike" in the East Folds Up

All But 358 of 77,806 Security-Wage Workers Return to Jobs

NEW YORK.—With only 358 men still striking from the total of 77,806 on the WPA construction project payroll, the walk-out in protest against President Roosevelt's security wage scale, which threatened last week to halt $100,000,000 worth of federal buildings here, appeared Tuesday to be dying a lingering death.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, works progress administrator here, said there was no more strike as far as he was concerned, and even members of the strategy committee of nine union officials who had been directing the walkout admitted they were licked.

"We realize we can't beat the United States government," said one of the nine, adding a request that his name be kept secret. "We'll continue to fight, and to send out delegates to all WPA jobs to try to persuade men to quit, but we're only doing it so that we can place the administration definitely on record as being opposed to organized labor."

Two factors, he admitted, were principally to blame for the strike's failure. In the first place, President Roosevelt's announcement that men who refused WPA jobs would be denied relief broke the morale of the rank and file of workers, practically all of whom are absolute broke. Secondly, the estimate made by union leaders that 15,000 of the WPA total were union members was a vast exaggeration.

No official census of the union members was ever taken but the 200 delegates and business agents of the strike committee's flying squadrons who have visited all WPA projects in an effort to pull workers out have reported the actual number of bona fide, paid up union men at nearer 3,000 than 15,000.

By HARRY GRAYSON

The Southwestern Conference will be one of the fastest in America this fall.

Rice Institute will have one of the nation's three outstanding teams. Such a statement may sound rash, but you are privileged to see me if I'm wrong. I happen to know what the capable Jimmie Kitts has up the sleeve of his jersey. He has some very fine football players and plenty on the ball.

Ohio State, of the Big Ten, in my opinion, will be another of the three foremost creations in the country. I doubt that I will be accused of being giddy-headed for saying this. The Bucks were just about the best of the lot at the wire last November, and they're practically all back with four or five sophomores certain to crack the varsity wide open.

Francis Schmidt is my candidate to succeed the late Knute Rockne as the general public's conception of a grid-iron magician. And you've never seen a harder driver than the intense Nebraska man who came up from Texas Christian to take charge at Columbus a year ago.

Notre Dame will have an armful in the Ohio State Stadium on November 2, when more than 80,000 persons will sit in on one of the highlights of the campaign.

Wallace and McCauley
But to get back to Rice, not the least reason why Houston and vicinity is already talking of filling the Rose Bowl with it is that it touched down twins, Bill Wallace and Johnny McCauley, will be back. They are rangy triple-threat All-American prospects.

So dangerous was Wallace at returning punts last season that opposing coaches often ordered their kickers to boot the ball out of bounds rather than risk a long return.

It wasn't until last season that football at Rice was given the notice it deserves in the east. Kitts regrets that Rice hasn't a big game in New York this fall, and the institute wouldn't reject an invitation to make the trip in 1936.

The football enthusiasm of the southwest matches that of the south and California. Andy Anderson, sports editor of the Houston Press, informs me that Kitts has some exceptionally fine freshmen coming up, and insists that it isn't home town pride which prompts him to remind me gently that the Rice team of 1936 also will be nothing short of ignited infantry behind tanks.

Rice captured the championship of the Southwestern Conference last season, losing only to Texas Christian. The Owls early showed their caliber by repelling Purdue at Lafayette.

It's the Old Hump Game
In addition to its piskin prospects, Anderson is positive that Rice will show New Yorkers a thing or two when they basketball at Madison Square Garden in February.

It is significant in these years of highly specialized forward and lateral passing that both Schmidt and Kitts were better and more highly regarded as basketball coaches before they accepted their current assignments last season.

Kitts wasn't considered an especially good football mentor when he came to Rice in 1933. He had coached at Athens, Texas, high school for 10 years, twice taking teams to the national interscholastic basketball championship. The cage dodge was considered his forte.

But given the opportunity as head football coach when Jack Meagher, whom he assisted, went to Alabama Poly, Kitts showed the boys and the team's followers new formations and legions.

The comment of Frank Thomas, of Alabama, on Schmidt's raging success in his maiden effort at Ohio State no doubt fits that of Kitts, to some extent at least.

"Schmidt is a lucky fellow," remarked Thomas. "He's the best basketball coach in the country and was lucky enough to tumble into all that material last when they turned football into basketball."

It perhaps would be advisable for colleges that haven't been doing so well over checked lines to take the matter up with their basketball coaches. They know how to chuck that elegant superboid hither and yon, which now seems to be the main thing.

Zenge Pleads Not Guilty to Murder

Alleged Mutilator of Love Rival Is Arraigned in Chicago

CHICAGO — (AP) — Mandeville W. Zenge, young Missouri carpenter, pleaded innocent Tuesday to an indictment charging him with murder by mutilation of his love rival, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, Kirksville, Mo., osteopath.

Acting Chief Justice John C. Lowe of the criminal court set the trial for September 9, "without subpoenas." This was taken to mean that at the request of attorneys a new trial date would be set at that time.

Zenge's attorney, Joseph R. Ronch, told Judge Lowe he could not be ready for trial on September 9, as he needed more time to obtain witnesses from Missouri.

Attorney Ronch said he might ask the court to withdraw the plea of innocent within 10 days and substitute another plea.

The case was assigned to Judge Dennis Normoyle.

Zenge is accused of slaying Dr. Bauer, by a crude emasculation operation July 31.

Dr. Bauer, who three weeks earlier had married Zenge's former fiancée, was kidnaped from Ann Arbor and taken to Chicago, where the operation was performed.

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain! to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile isn't flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. # FORD V-8 SALES CLIMB TO NEW HIGH

7 months' Ford V-8 sales surpass all-year 1934 sales

IT'S EASY TO BUY A FORD THESE DAYS

You may not need a cent of cash to drive a new Ford V-8 into your own garage tomorrow... Almost any 1932, 1933 or 1934 automobile will make the whole down-payment. Older cars will go far toward covering down-payment. Ford prices are so low that all Ford models are easy to buy and the 1935 Ford costs less to run than any Ford car ever built.

AUTHORIZED FORD DEALERS

ON THE AIR—FRED WARING AND HIS PENNSYLVANIANS—EVERY TUESDAY NIGHT—COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM

DEARBORN, Mich., August 1... Official records of Ford V-8 cars and trucks, bought in this country since the first of January this year, show that on July thirty-first sales for the first seven months of this year exceeded Ford sales for all of the year 1934 (12 months).

Since the time of the introduction of the Ford V-8 engine in 1932, Ford has remained the only manufacturer in the low-priced field offering this superior type of power-plant... A brief study of automobile price lists today shows that you can buy a completely equipped Ford V-8 car for one-quarter the price of the next lowest-priced car with a V-8 engine.

In addition, this year, Ford added to the luxury-type performance of the V-8 engine the luxury of a new kind of "Comfort Zone" ride. The engine was moved 8 1/2 inches forward... springs were made longer and softer... back seat as well as front seat passengers were seated between the springs, away from the axles—literally in the "comfort zone" of the car.

Almost immediately this 1935 Ford car became America's favorite.

And now, with only seven months passed of 1935, Ford retail sales have surpassed the sales for all of 1934, which, in their turn, marked a great increase over Ford sales in 1933.
